Bridging the Gap between Science and Practice
35th International Conference on Biomechanics in Sports
Cologne, June 8th, 2017

The 35th International Conference on Biomechanics in Sports will be held in Cologne, Germany from June 14th until June 18th on the campus of the German Sport University of Cologne. Close to 500 scientists and technicians from 40 countries will follow a world-class program on Sports Biomechanics.

The mission of the International Society of Biomechanics in Sports (ISBS) is bridging the gap between scientists and sports practitioners, athletes and coaches. The scientific program will be very close to sports practice.

Six worldwide recognized keynote speakers and interesting up-to-date topics in five applied sessions will be highlights of the scientific program. More than 300 oral and poster presentations will complete the package. Student incentives such as the mentoring program, a special student night as well as an attractive social program will allow for extensive scientific exchange and socialising.

We would like to encourage all biomechanists and everybody who is interested in sports and sport biomechanics to join us at the German Sport University and make ISBS 2017 unforgettable. Visit us and experience Cologne’s unique character built up in more than 2000 years of history.
